

HOW IT'S DONE

HOWDEN PROFESSIONAL RISKS AND THE ASBESTOS INDUSTRY

Howden Professional Risks have been working with clients in the asbestos industry since 2003. We have a dedicated team who specialise in insurance for asbestos removal and its associated sectors, and we work with an A-rated insurer to deliver a product tailored to meet the needs of ARCA members. Working closely with insurers who understand the risks that ARCA members face means that we are able to deliver cover that meets our clients' needs at a price that reflects the risk.

As well as advising on and arranging insurance for the asbestos industry we have strong relationships with ARCA and ATaC, and work together to continually improve the insurers' understanding of asbestos industry risks, and to deliver risk management education to the asbestos industry as appropriate.

CLIENT SERVICE

We employ professional managers to manage our business, allowing our senior insurance practitioners to manage our clients' insurance matters. This means that when we present a team of people, our clients can be sure that those are the people who they will be working with on a day-to-day basis.

CLAIMS

We understand that the role of a good broker is much more than designing the right insurance product and placing it at the right price. We pride ourselves on our specialist claims service, and in recent years have expanded our team to include a group legal counsel who has experience as an insurance litigator.

Even with the widest policy wordings the potential coverage problems can never be eradicated, so when they do arise, technical expertise and relationships are vital to ensure that the cost to your business is minimised.
